

Denise M. Doyle

Head of Corporate Development and IP Licensing

Denise Doyle leads corporate development and intellectual property licensing for HERE. She brings two decades of experience in strategy development, business portfolio planning and risk management across North America, Europe and Asia, including China. Doyle joined NAVTEQ – which later became HERE – in 1999, subsequently developing business model strategies and leading commercial negotiations on a number of major supplier partnership agreements. Prior to that, she held business analyst roles at AOL and Miller Brewing Company.

Doyle holds a BA in International Business from St. Norbert College in the United States.