

Jørgen Behrens

Senior Vice President and Head of HERE Applications

Jørgen Behrens is Senior Vice President and Head of HERE Applications. In this role, he is focused on industry specific application-level business and product initiatives that add value to content from HERE and its offerings via the HERE Open Location Platform.

Jorgen joined HERE from Royal Philips where he founded and led a business focused on medical grade wearable devices and accompanying services for the prevention of chronic diseases. Prior to that, as head of engineering and content operations at TomTom, he initiated several major technology changes critical to production and product innovation of the company. Before TomTom, Jorgen was CMO at Smartphone OS consortium Symbian, and he joined Nokia after it acquired Symbian. Before Symbian, Jorgen worked as a strategy consultant in the mobile industry.

He holds a Bachelor and Master's in Business Administration from Nijenrode University, Netherlands.