HERE Open Location Platform

A Location Intelligence Platform
Build location-powered products | Exchange and monetize

HERE Open Location Platform (OLP) is a cloud-based big data platform for location-centric innovation and data exchange. The OLP provides a Workspace with integrated access to rich HERE location data and powerful developer and analytics tools to power location-based solution development and operation. The OLP also provides an integrated neutral Marketplace to enable secure and controlled data exchange within and across industries.
Customer Benefits

Amplify value of your data: Create enriched products from your data by combining with HERE and third-party data.

Accelerate time-to-market: Leverage integrated location data and technologies to help you innovate faster.

Create additional revenue streams: Securely license your data to others and create additional revenue streams for your business.

Reduce and avoid costs: Minimize hardware, software and personnel costs with our serverless approach which allows you to focus on your core business.
