

Kelley Steven-Waiss

Chief Innovation Officer

Kelley Steven-Waiss serves as Chief Innovation Officer for HERE Technologies. She has more than 25 years of executive management and consulting experience in human resources, change management and corporate communications and has spent the last 13 years as a CHRO, including her prior role at HERE and across semiconductor, software and networking companies.

She is also the founder of a cloud-based SaaS talent mobility solution, Hitch, that uses machine learning and AI to match project-based opportunities to internal employee skill profiles.

Prior to HERE, Kelley was EVP of Worldwide Human Resources for Extreme Networks and was responsible for the company's global human capital strategies.

She is on the board of FormFactor, Inc. (NASDAQ: FORM), the Chair of the Advisory Board for the Silicon Valley Education Foundation and an active member of the HR technology community. Kelley is married and the mother of four children.